Scott,

What value is life?

Do you security or not?

There is a budget and it needs to be followed. The only person I am interested in hearing from about security is the Hall County Sheriff. You start bringing in all the outside "security experts" and money is not going to be an object. There is not money to build a palace and the Judges need to come to this realization.

I have been working with the judges on the courthouse annex for the past several weeks, along with Randy Knighton, and Marty Nix.

The plans Sizemore is currently working with are design ideas and concepts I recently provided them. Superior Court Judge Andrew Fuller, Juvenile Court Judge Robert Weber, Reggie Forrester, and the Hall County Sheriff's Department Courthouse security supervisors, they all had input and involved in the most recent security planning discussions with Sizemore. The drawings Sizemore is currently preparing are focused around efficient, effective courthouse security implementation designed and formatted specifically for the structural make-up of Courthouse "76." It is also our desire to have these security plans for the Courthouse Annex reviewed and evaluated by the Georgia Sheriff's Association Court Security inspection managers for their recommendations and suggestions. Any courthouse security planning we have in the future you are welcome to attend.

Thank you for your interest and desire to become a part of this important project.

Conceptual plans are fine as long as they are within the threshold of full building restoration. I will be glad to represent the board along with another commissioner on the project. Let me know.

Board of County Commissioners,

Attached is a change/order additional task order for the Sizemore Group to move forward with developing conceptual plan options for the courthouse renovation. Sizemore holds the architectural services contract for the courthouse annex. If you have any questions, please let me know.
